A Checklist of The Egyptian Museum's Unpublished Greek Papyri

Usama A. Gad

During the past two decades, papyrologists trying to keep track of publications of the papyri in the Egyptian Museum in Cairo listed in Grenfell and Hunt’s 1903 volume of the Catalogue Général des Antiquités Égyptiennes du Musée du Caire have been well served by published concordances, first by K. A. Worp, “Die veröffentlichten P.Cair.: Eine Konkordanz,” ZPE 91 (1992) 95-98, then by addenda by A. Martin und G. Nachtergaeel in CdE 72 (1997) 305f. An adapted version of this concordance list can be consulted online;1 in this one you can find all the numbers that have appeared in BACPSI until volume 26 (2009).

No such help has been readily available for the still-unpublished papyri of that volume. Since the AIP’s International Photographic Archive of Papyri has photographs of about 4600 papyri of the Egyptian Museum2 and it is available to all papyrologist worldwide, it can easily happen that the same papyrus text is edited by more than one scholar at a time. Moreover, because the papyri in P.Cair.Cat. have served as a major source of unpublished papyri for Egyptian students, it has happened that an Egyptian M.A. or Ph.D. thesis has included a papyrus simultaneously edited by an international papyrologist,3 or that the publication of a papyrus text escapes the notice of the national editor of the same papyrus.4 No doubt these instances are not intentional trespasses on the AIP’s guiding principle of Amicitia Papyrologorum.5 This checklist is intended to help colleagues to avoid such

1 This checklist would have never been possible without the help of many scholars; both Egyptians and internationals. I would like first to express my thanks to both Dr. Noha Salem and Ms. Eman Mohamed for their emails and telephones , I should admit that without their help much of the information in this checklist would not have been available to me. Second, I wish also to express my greatest gratitude to Prof. K. A. Worp who has looked at an earlier version of this checklist and for providing me with suggestions, corrections and information about some numbers of the Cairo Museum which he has published himself. Last but not least, I extend my acknowledgment to Prof. Roger Bagnall for reading this last version of the checklist correcting my English and style as well as for accepting to put it on the website of the AIP. Even though, I must stress that any faults or contradictions found in this checklist is mine only and I am solely responsible of them.

4 Cf the case of P.Cair.Cat. 10383 that has been published in ZPE 150 (2004) 161-186 and appears as papyrus number II in the PhD thesis of Mohamed, Belal in 2010. The guiding principle of the AIP is the amicitia papyrologorum. This expression appears to derive from a lecture given by Leopold Wenger (1874-1953) at the closing session of the IIIrd International Congress of unintentional duplication of effort in the future, and it is hoped that it can be updated and corrected regularly.

The present checklist was developed in the first instance to be used by the team of the International Seminar of Unpublished Papyri in the Egyptian Museum. The scholars whose names appear in this checklist were editing unpublished papyri from the Egyptian Museum, mostly from the C(atalogue) G(énéral) but some from the S pecial) R(egister), before the start of the International Seminar. Most of them are M.A. or Ph.D. students of Papyrology at Ain Shams University who had permission from the respective authority to publish these pieces in their dissertations. Because of many factors, that are beyond the scope of this checklist, those students publish only a few numbers (ranging from 10-15 in most cases) to get their respective degrees before official deadlines, with continuation of publication after getting the degrees in a series of articles. Almost all of their works appear in the Bulletin of Ain-shams University Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions (BACPSI) after a lag of two years or even more.

The present checklist does not repeat any of the information contained in the online concordance of published papyri except for three cases which will be deleted later when they are known to all of the seminar participants.

The checklist consists of two parts; Part I is a list by number showing where items have been published or who is working on them; bold numbers are published (or about to be) in a thesis, Italics are those being edited under the umbrella of the International Seminar in Unpublished Papyri of the Egyptian Museum. Those in roman type are under study aside from the seminar. Part II is an index by person (in alphabetical order).

I would be very happy if I received any comments or corrections on this; it is a work in progress, so please, don't hesitate to contact me.

For information about this seminar see the announcement on the website of the AIP (http://www.ulb.ac.be/assoc/aip/seminar.htm) accessed on 28/12/2010.

6 Cf the case of Awad, Yosra in which she has defended her MA. thesis in 2008 but her ten papyri appeared in BACPSI 27 of April 2010, Ten Papyri From Cairo Museum, pp. 51-97.

*These three cases are the numbers of Tarek Aly, Kashaf Mohamed and Belal Moahmed (P.Cair. Cat. 10383 only, since it has been already published in ZPE 150 (2004) 161-186 but he worked on it not knowing that it has already been published). I have included these numbers here because they appeared in the first round of papyri which we received from Todd Hickey so that no one of the seminar participant would work on them and waste his time on already-published pieces."

8 Some numbers are repeated (like in the case of P.Cair. Cat. 10326, under the names both of Hanafi, Alia and Belal, Mohamed); this duplication has been noted, and we await the settlement of such overlaps by the interested parties.

Every member of the international seminar on the unpublished papyri of the Egyptian Museum is assigned some pieces to work on. Apart from these assignments, the seminar participants are furnished with some unassigned numbers (“grab bag”) from which they can claim whatever papyri they want as long as they inform the seminar organizers and their fellow members about the exact numbers they have claimed.
